SMALL TALK OF SOCIETY

THE TROLLEY PARTY FAD AND SOME OF ITS FEATURES.

Apple Feasts Proposed as a Summer Substitute for Tea Brinking-People In and Out of Town.

Indianapolis has not taken to the trolley party as other cities have. They are quite the fad in Philadelphia and other Eastern places and in a number of Western cities. The fancy for a trolley party is said to be. growing. When it is known that there is to be a trolley party the brightest and newest cars are reserved. They are decorated in various ways, sometimes with flags, and a number of horns are taken along. The party must include enough guests to fill the car, no more and no less. If there is a large party there may be a car and a trailer. This will accommodate about eighty guests, according to the number for each seat. It is considered more comfortable to have four instead of five in a seat, for two reasons. It is not so crowded, and four persons means two couples, and not an extra. The rendezvous is at some convenient corner, and the ride is over various lines for two, three or four hours. Two seats may be turned to face each other, so that it allows a party of eight to be to-gether. If the hostess prefers she may provide basket luncheons, or she may have a ride of an hour and a half and a return to her home for an informal dance and sup-A great many prefer a trolley party to a bicycle party, for the reason that there is more opportunity to talk. A trolley party this evening. is a pleasant entertainment for a girls Mr. Frank party in the afternoon, as well as for couples in the evening. One given in an Eastern city is described as furnishing a great deal of enjoyment for the people who were not of it, for the girls wore pretty gowns and the car was gaily decorated and made a sight worth seeing. "Distinctly Philadelphian is that enthu-slastic institution known as the "Trolley Girl," says an exchange. "This effervescent bit of femininity seems to have ap-propriated for her own use some of the electricity that is the great force in her ty.' Though other cities, perhaps, have fol-lowed suit on this line, to Philadelphia belongs the credit of originating an entertainment as unique in its way as the car-nival at Nice or the Mardi Gras at New Orleans. Radiant, flashing, light-bedecked, the cars whizz through the streets, giving the groups of sidewalk observers a fleeting glimpse of set pieces representing anchors, emblems-red, white and blue, a concentrated mass of moving color, in the midst of which the trolley girl reigns supreme."

The Betrothal Cup.

One of the latest fancies to be brought out only at a betrothal party is the bride's cup. This is a beautiful piece of Bohemian glass. One end of the glass is cup shaped is filled with wine, and, as the health of the bride-elect is drunk by the company, she drains the cup. A second time the cup is filled, but not at the same end. The end used as a standard is hollow and it too forms a cup. From this end the groom-elect takes his wine as his health is drunk by the others. The cup is a rarity in this part of the country, and only two or three are known to be in this city. They form, when not in use, a beautiful ornament for cabinet. As betrothal parties are rare the they will go to the seashore for a few cup will not be a necessity for every fam-

Selecting Novels.

There is more fiction taken out of the library in summer than in winter, considering the depleted population through the hot months. It may be possible that there are others, who choose a novel as did this

"A writer lets out a secret regarding the way in which young women read novels. It was in the car, and two girls were talking of what they read.

'Oh, I choose a novel easily enough,' said one. 'I go to the circulating library and look at the last chapters. If I find the rain softly and sadly dropping over one or two lonely graves I don't have it, but if the morning sun is glimmering over bridal robes of white satisf I know it's all right and take it and start to buy sweets to eat while I read it."

The Apple Fad.

A late fad introduced by a sensible woman in Cincinnati is the "apple feast," to replace the afternoon tea drinking that has en. The guests assemble around the table and choose their favorite pippin from the dishes of apples of all colors and kinds. The fruit is supposed to give both beauty and color to women, and it is surprising with what renewed energy a round of so-cial calls can be resumed under the tonic and health-giving influence of the whole-

However, some of the newest ones are like the old ones. The old bangles will need a bit of polishing, too, for the new ones are mostly bright.

A New Claret Jug. An ornate article for the buffet is the new claret jug. This comes in the quaintest of forms and has fine and exquisite cuttings. Some of the jugs are topped with silver. others have silver bands at the neck or the top, and another form still has the top held on with a spring and it is opened by means of a silver chain.

This is the last week of Wasson's July Sale, and it will be a big one. Money will be lost and lots of it this week as freely as the goods are cut off and handed out. Everything goes, from the finest silks to a paper of pins, at such prices that will make you wish the sale would last for a month instead of only a week. ... During a busy season many of the best. goods in all departments in a big store like ours are overlooked. Sometimes it's because they are kept so nicely that they are not shown freely enough, and partly because of their fine quality, being too high-priced to sell freely, but they have all been pulled from their hiding places for the sale this week and will be closed out at one-third to one-half value.

... Here are fine novelty silks, fine table linens, real lace handkerchiefs, real lace by the yard, silk underwear, silk hosiery, fine kid gloves, choice pieces of muslin underwear, fine lace curtains and hundreds of other items from one cent to one dollar, worth three to five times the price.
